Hello,

I support option B for Drexel Ave. Not only is a protected bike lane the obviously more progressive and safe option, it will also look better. It will save the city the headache of median maintenance. Medians are a waste of space and will crowd Drexel ave, obscuring views and making it even less safe than it's current state (especially for cyclists).

Whatever we do, please do not plant giant maple trees under power lines and in the tree lawn where they destroy sidewalks (like we did on college ave).

Thanks for your time,

Joe Blake
