As a resident of Bryden Rd. near Drexel, the proposal for a bike lane on Drexel Ave. is worrisome. Already, we have lots of parkers utilizing Dawson Ave. (we live on the corner). If parking is disallowed for the bike lane, where will those that currently use the street parking on Drexel park? Continued development of Main St. will hopefully create more businesses and restaurants that people from both inside and outside our community will like to visit. But lack of parking could easily curtail this, and make Bexley less of a destination compared to peers with better parking situations (Arlington, Grandview, Gahanna, etc.).

Bikers looking for a north/south route have plenty of options, Dawson, Columbia, Parkview, the Alum Creek Trail. I am not an avid biker by any stretch of the imagination, but when I do ride my bike, usually with my kids, I do, and will continue to, avoid Drexel as the traffic flow is much too fast.

To me, the option of islands along Drexel Ave. will slow traffic flow and be much more beneficial for our community as a whole.
