Your comment to the Bexley City Council:: I just found out that Bexley is a master meter community of Columbus resulting in higher water bills. However, there are many communities ie Arlington, Grandview, etc that are not. I do not understand how Columbus can arbitrarily decide which community is in and which is not. Surely, this is an issue that many residents are not aware of and I would appreciate knowing how a change could be made with the city of Columbus. Our water prices are more than 2 times other surrounding areas.
